Your Business Computers

Getting the right computer system for your business is vital in today's environment. Unfortunately there is such a bewildering array of hardware and software available that it can be difficult to make the right choice. It is very easy to end up with the wrong systems and software.

At Custom Internet, we have many years experience of supporting and using PC systems in a small business environment, and you can benefit from that by asking us to help you get the right setup for your business.

We give 'no nonsense' advice, based on solid engineering – not sales hype. We will consider your complete IT needs, and offer you a package that suits you and not some salesman's target.

Our Packages

We offer three different example packages, all of which include all the hardware and software you need, fully installed and working:
